4-H UPDATE

May/June 2016

Let the summer begin. It's time to put away the winter gear and pull out the summer gear or rain gear. Michigan seasons tend to blend, but we hope warmer weather is here to stay for a little while.

School projects will soon be coming to a close as 4-H projects have started to begin for many. Some have been working on their 4-H projects since last year.

There are many opportunities to attend events here in the county as well as outside the county. Two of the biggest events for the summer are the Marion Fair and the Osceola County Fair. Many of you will be attending the fairs so please read the newsletter and fair books carefully to know when your deadlines are. Those who will be participating with small animal and livestock projects make sure you are reaching the educational requirements for each of the fairs.

Along with the upcoming fairs there are camps and other events that are available to the youth. Take a look inside to see some of the upcoming events around and outside the county. Some of the events include: the PEP Benefit & Pleasure Point Shows at the Posse grounds, the Goat Clinic at the Evert Fair Grounds, the Small Animal Showmanship Clinic at the Fairgrounds, and at MSU there will be Dairy Days, the Michigan Livestock Expo, the 4-H Rabbit and Cavy Expo, the State Goat Show, Exploration Days and more.

I hope you are as excited as me to be able to get outside and enjoy the weather while being active in 4-H. I hope to see you at some of these events.

I look forward to working with all of you this summer!

Sincerely,

Jacob Stieg
Osceola County 4-H Coordinator

Leader Tip of the Month –Creating Successful Youth - Adult Partnerships

- Actively seek youth input, and be sure to listen to their ideas and ask questions.
- Ensure that each adult and young person enters a partnership with a clear understanding of everyone's roles and responsibilities.
- Value youth participation and what they bring to the program.
- Schedule meetings when and where young people can attend, and keep to the scheduled time.
- Prepare both youth and adults for involvement by sharing information prior to meetings/activities.
- Set realistic expectations. Effective partnerships don't set young people up for failure by throwing them into situations for which they are not prepared.
- Offer youth and adult training so they can work together and be accepting of one another.
- Develop an atmosphere of mutual trust and respect. If needed, create and utilize a set of ground rules for discussion to ensure equal opportunity for expression of thoughts.
- Be a good role model – set a good example through language and actions, and set the same standards for youth.
- Listen and validate the thinking of youth members, and let them know their ideas are welcome.
- Be willing to try youth members' ideas even if those particular ideas did not work in your previous experience.
